Employment in Japan – Specified Skilled Workers Program

To deal with its labour shortage, the Government of Japan has established an initiative for increasing its intake of foreign workers under the 'Specified Skilled Workers Program'. As per this program, a new status of residence is established for foreign workers to gain more opportunities for employment in Japan. This program came into effect in April 2019. More details are available at <https://www.ssw.go.jp/en/>.

India and Japan have signed a Memorandum of Cooperation (MoC) establishing a basic framework for partnership for proper operation of the System pertaining to 'Specified Skilled Workers'. Under this program, Indian skilled workers moving to Japan for employment in the fourteen sectors underlined in the agreement would be given a new status of residence of 'Specified Skilled Worker' by Japan.

The 14 specified sectors in which Indian workers would be able to avail better job opportunities are as follows: Nursing care; Building cleaning; Material Processing industry; Industrial machinery manufacturing industry; Electric and electronic information related industry; Construction; Shipbuilding and ship-related industry; Automobile maintenance; Aviation; Lodging; Agriculture; Fisheries; Food and beverages manufacturing industry and Food service industry. There are total 73 operations under these 14 categories. <https://www.mofa.go.jp/files/000459527.pdf>

Specified Skilled Workers Program – Essential Information

- In Japan, the agency responsible for the implementation of this program is the Policy Planning Division, Immigration Services Agency.
- Eligibility Criteria: Candidates must be 18 years of age, must be in good health, and have passed the language and skills test.
- Period of stay: Renewed annually, every 6 months or every 4 months, for a maximum stay up to 5 years in total
- Skill Standards: Confirmed by exams, etc. (those who have completed Technical Intern Training (ii) are exempted from exams, etc.)
- Japanese language level: Proficiency in Japanese language required in daily life and at the workplace needs to be confirmed by exams, etc. (those who have completed Technical Intern Training (ii) are exempted from exams, etc.) – JLPT N4 level equivalent proficiency is necessary.

- Accompanied by family members : basically not permitted

- Eligible for support by Accepting Organizations or Registered Support Organizations

- Changing workplaces in the same job category (Type of work) can be permitted. Changing to a job in different job category in the same field can also be permitted if the skill level is recognized as similar to the current level through exams. Changing jobs to a different industrial field is also possible, if the similarity of the skill level is recognized between those job categories through exams

- The accepting organization can conduct recruitment activities directly overseas or through a mediating organization, etc.

- There are no payment of guarantee deposits or monetary penalties to be given to any broker or third party for gaining access to a employment contract under the Specified Skilled Workers program.

Labour Laws in Japan

Japan – Factsheet on Labour Laws

- There are three major labour laws, namely: the Labour Standards Law (LSL), the Trade Union Law (TUL) and the Labour Relations Adjustment Law (LRAL). The LSL regulates firstly working conditions and secondly the workplace safety and hygiene. The TUL guarantees the worker's right to organize and to bargain collectively, whereas labour management adjustments and means of dispute settlement are specified in the LRAL.
- As a rule, Japanese laws concerning labor apply to all employees in Japan, regardless of nationality. The Labor Standards Law stipulates that the employer shall not engage in discriminatory treatment with respect to wages, working hours or other working conditions by reason of nationality or other status of any worker (Article 3, Labor Standards Law).

Japan – Factsheet on Labour Laws

	Specified Skilled Workers
KEY LEGISLATION	1. Labour Standards Law (LSL), 2. Trade Union Law (TUL) and 3. Labour Relations Adjustment Law (LRAL).
	Working Conditions
CONTRACT	Any contract needs to meet the standards set in the Labour Standards Law and any contract that does not do so will be invalid.
MINIMUM WAGE	A minimum wage is guaranteed to any employee, as stipulated in Art. 28 LSL and the Minimum Wage Act. The minimum amount is not specified in legislation but set and frequently adjusted by the Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare in consultation with the Minimum Wage Deliberation Commission. This commission has a national and a local level and is composed of three delegations from among workers, employers and the public.

Japan – Factsheet on Labour Laws

	Specified Skilled Workers
WORKING HOURS	The average working time as stipulated in Article 32 of the LSL is 40 hours per week and 8 hours per day. The employer must also provide at least one rest day per week as well as rest periods during working hours, at least 45 minutes after 6 working hours and one hour after 8 working hours (Arts. 34 and 35 of the LSL).
OVERTIME	Overtime work may also be stipulated by agreement of the employer and the trade union. Increased wages must then be paid within a range of no less than 25% and no more than 50% over the normal wage per working hour (Art. 37 of the LSL).

Japan – Factsheet on Labour Laws

	Specified Skilled Workers
PAYMENT OF WAGES	Remuneration shall be at least equal to the amount that would be paid to a Japanese person engaged in the same work. Wages must be paid to the workers in currency, directly, in full, at least once a month, and on a fixed date. (Article 24 of the labour Standard law). Concerning the payment in full, however, exceptions are made such as statutory deductions for taxes, employment insurance and agreed deductions for union dues, etc.
ANNUAL LEAVE	Annual leave with pay of the average wages is granted in Art. 39 of the LSL. The worker can claim it, only if he/she reported for work on at least 80% of the total working days. The number of annual leave days is related to the time the worker has already been employed in the enterprise counting only those years, in which the worker reported sufficiently for work. Upwards of 6 months of continuous employment, the worker can claim 10 days of annual leave. In the following two years, one day per year is added. However, the total number of annual leave days does not become more than 20 days.

	GRIEVANCES AND DISPUTE RESOLUTION
LODGING/ RESOLVING DISPUTE	Labour disputes are settled as labour related civil cases. Settlements are regulated by the Civil Procedure Code from 1890, which was reformed in 1996, effective 1 January 1998, in order to shorten procedures. The employee files a complaint with the District Court as a court of first instance. Each District Court has jurisdiction over a region which in general corresponds to the given prefecture. The losing party in the first instance may appeal (Koso) the judgement of the District Court to a High Court. The party dissatisfied with the High Court's judgement may appeal (Jokoku) to the Supreme Court as the court of last resort but needs to succeed the procedure of admission first, since the Supreme Court can refuse the appeal in view of a lack of importance. If the employee complains about unfair labour practices, the Labour Relations Commission has jurisdiction (Art. 27 of the TUL). The decision of the Prefectural Labour Relations Commission is upon request reviewed by the Central Labour Relations Commission. Either party then may file an appeal to the court.

Essential Information to Reside in Japan

Essential Information for Living in Japan

- Long term residents are required to carry a residence card. Not carrying it is a violation of the Immigration Control and Refugee Recognition Act.
- Individuals cannot enter the property of another person as they may be charged with residential invasion as stipulated in the Penal Code.
- If you work without a status of residence that allows you to work, you will be illegally working.
- A Japanese driver's license is required to drive on public roads in Japan. A license can be obtained from a driver's license centre.

Behavioural Traits for Workplaces

Meeting and Greeting:

- Bowing is a common way to greet in Japan. Japanese people bow when they meet each other, say thank you, or say goodbye. An incline of the head in return to a bow will usually suffice.
- The exchange of business cards is a very important part of formal meetings in Japan and therefore, it is very important to always carry sufficient business cards. Please use both hands when giving or receiving cards and the same holds true for giving and receiving gifts.
- Many Japanese people don't like being photographed, so be sure to check and get permission before taking a photograph.

When using public transport or in public place:

- It is considered rude to speak on one's phone while in trains and buses, and announcements encourage travelers to switch phones to silent mode.
- People also tend not to speak loudly so as not to disturb fellow passengers.
- At busy times when waiting to board a train or bus, Japanese people form an orderly queue as per the lines drawn on the platforms.
- Cars drive on the left in Japan and pedestrians have right of way while crossing the road.
- Eating or drinking while walking in public places is considered disrespectful.
- There are not many dustbins in the cities, so it is advisable to carry one's garbage to be disposed of later.

Cultural Do's and Don'ts in Japan

When visiting temples or shrines:

- Visitors are expected to speak quietly in the main halls of the shrines or temples.
- Visitors are also expected to remove their shoes at the entrance.
- One important ritual for shrines is that before entering the shrine, visitors need to wash their hands and mouth using the water source in front of the shrine.

Eating and Drinking:

- Chopsticks are generally used for eating food in Japan. There are several do's and don'ts when it comes to the use of chopsticks. The main rule to remember is to not leave chopsticks standing upright in a bowl of rice or use them to pass food to another person's chopsticks as they are rituals associated with funerals.
- Most restaurants have forks and knives available and can be asked for if required.
- Some Japanese style restaurants expect visitors to remove their shoes at entrance and keep them in designated areas. Also, some restaurants have floor seating arrangements.
- There is no custom of tipping in Japan.

Language Proficiency in Japan

- Japanese language level: Proficiency in Japanese language required in daily life and at the workplace needs to be confirmed by exams, etc.
- In addition to JLPT test, there are other Japanese language qualifications test like NAT Test, J-Test.
- Common greetings in Japanese -
 - Ohayō gozaimasu = Good morning
 - konnichiwa = Good Afternoon
 - Konbanwa = Good Evening
 - Oyasumi nasai = Good night
 - Mata ne = see you (again)
 - Moshi Moshi = Hello over phone
 - Hai = Yes
 - Iie = No
 - O-negai shimasu = Please
 - Arigatō = Thank you
 - Dōitashimashite = You're welcome
 - Sumimasen = Excuse me
 - Gommennasai = I am sorry
 - Wakarimasen = I don't understand
